Community Places Emphasis on Awareness

By Susan Savetwith
Mohican News Reporter

With October being National Domestic Violence Awareness Month there were a number of events and speakers providing information and awareness on the subject of Domestic Violence.

According to Stockbridge-Munsee Family Services Advocate, Jan Redcloud, October is only one of many awareness or prevention months where the Stockbridge-Munsee Family Services team looks at the awareness and prevention of Domestic Abuse. This month, Stockbridge-Munsee Family Services joined the Menominee Domestic Abuse Program (Oskey-Wa~epitah) for "Domestic Violence Awareness Day" on October 8, 2014 at the Menominee Casino. There were speakers from the End Abuse, Wisconsin State Coalition on Domestic Violence. CJ Doxtator talked on, "What is Domestic Abuse?" Redcloud explained that Doxtator said it wasn't always just hitting or leaving someone all beat up; emotional scares, from bad words and jesters of abuse are also part of domestic abuse. She said CJ told the story of how his life was and how it has changed. Redcloud said another speaker was Susan Whitehorse from the Justice Department who talked about human trafficking in Indian country; she was very informative and talked about cases right here in Wisconsin. Whitehorse explained what the state does and how they work with Missing and Exploited Children and the Amber Alerts.

Redcloud said other topics spoke on at the event were a Men's Batterers Group and Prosecution of Domestic Violence. She said some of the resources that are used in the Stockbridge-Munsee Community area are Menominee's Oskey-Wa~epitah (Domestic Violence Shelter), Safe Haven Domestic Violence Shelter, and

New "Clan" Gardens on Display at North Star Mohican Casino Resort

October 10, 2014 – Groundskeepers Richard Gulbranson and Chris Stevens, who are both Tribal members, recently completed the final touches to the new "clan" gardens located on both sides of the main entrance to the North Star Mohican Casino Resort.

Each garden represents one of the Stockbridge-Munsee Clans; the Wolf, Bear, Turkey and the Turtle Clan. Also, there are two additional gardens that have a stone monument that pays homage to the Stockbridge-Munsee Tribe and its members through the use of the Tribe's Great Seal forever immortalized in solid granite.

Both Gulbranson and Stevens are responsible for creating the original landscaping design and completing each garden with the assistance of co-workers; Mary Clauss, Lucas Miller, and Jeff Carter.

"The newest landscaping display not only incorporates a Tribal element to the casino resort experience it also enhances the guests' sense of arrival and expectations even before they enter the building. The new display

American Indians/Alaska Natives at Increased Risk of Developing Diabetic Eye Disease

Diabetes disproportionately affects American Indians and Alaska Natives

Today, diabetes affects more than 29 million people in the United States or over 9 percent of the population. In addition, another 86 million American adults, more than one out of three individuals, have pre-diabetes, a condition that puts people at increased risk for diabetes. In fact, these statistics include many groups of American Indians and Alaska Natives. According to the Indian Health Service, almost 16 percent of American Indians and Alaska Natives have diabetes. Among them, diabetes varies considerably in various regions, from 6 percent among Alaska Natives, to 24 percent among American Indians in southern Arizona. All people with diabetes, both type 1 and type 2, are at risk for diabetic eye disease, a leading cause of vision loss and blindness.

Diabetic eye disease refers to a group of eye problems that people with diabetes may face as a complication of the disease and includes cataract, diabetic retinopathy, and glaucoma. Diabetic retinopathy, the most common diabetic eye disease, is the leading cause of blindness in adults 20–74 years of age.

“The longer a person has diabetes, the greater is his or her risk of developing diabetic eye disease,” said Paul A. Sieving, M.D., Ph.D., director of the National Eye Institute (NEI). “If you have diabetes, be sure to have a comprehensive dilated eye exam at least once a year. Don’t wait until you notice an eye problem to have an exam, because vision that is lost often cannot be restored.”

Diabetic eye disease often has no early warning signs, but it can be detected early and treated before vision loss occurs. If you have diabetes in your family, you can leave a legacy of healthy vision by taking steps to prevent vision loss—get a comprehensive dilated eye exam.

“In fact, with early detection, timely treatment, and appropriate follow-up care, people with advanced diabetic retinopathy can reduce their risk of blindness by 95 percent,” adds Suber Huang, M.D., M.B.A., chair of the Diabetic Eye Disease Subcommittee for NEI’s National Eye Health Education Program.

Research has shown that when people with diabetes maintain good control of blood sugar, blood pressure, and cholesterol, they can slow the development and progression of diabetic eye disease. In addition to having a comprehensive dilated eye exam at least once a year, people with diabetes should do the following to keep their health on TRACK:

- Take your medications.
- Reach and maintain a healthy weight.
- Add physical activity to your daily routine.
- Control your blood sugar, blood pressure, and cholesterol.
- Kick the smoking habit.

If you have diabetes, set your sight on healthy vision. Schedule a comprehensive dilated eye exam. For more information on diabetic eye disease and tips on finding an eye care professional or financial assistance for eye care, visit www.eyecare.gov.

New Menominee Job Center Ribbon Cutting Set for November 12

KESHENA, WI - The College of Menominee Nation holds a ribbon-cutting ceremony on Wednesday, November 12, for the Menominee Job Center, the newest community resource on the Keshena campus. The public is invited to attend the opening ceremonies at 2 p.m., and to tour the center’s offices and resource room at any time between 3 and 8 p.m. on the campus at N172 State Highway 47/55 in Keshena. Dr. Verna Fowler, President of College of Menominee Nation, Shawano Chamber of Commerce representative, and David Andrew, Assistant Deputy Secretary of the Department of Workforce Development of Wisconsin, will speak at the ceremony. There will also be refreshments as well as door prizes.

The Menominee Job Center began operation in August in the College’s Community Technology Center. It provides the public with resources in a one-stop employment and training center and serves employers, students, job seekers and workers.

Visit nei.nih.gov/diabetes or call NEI at 301–496–5248.

The National Eye Institute (NEI), part of the National Institutes of Health, leads the federal government’s research on the visual system and eye diseases. NEI supports basic and clinical science programs that result in the development of sight-saving treatments. For more information, visit www.nei.nih.gov.

NEI supports more than $45 million in diabetes research and outreach, including the Diabetic Retinopathy Clinical Research Network (DRCR.net), a collaboration of more than 300 physicians at more than 100 clinical sites across the United States.

About the National Institutes of Health (NIH): NIH, the Nation’s medical research agency, includes 27 Institutes and Centers and is a component of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. NIH is the primary federal agency conducting and supporting basic, clinical, and translational medical research, and is investigating the causes, treatments, and cures for both common and rare diseases.

For more information about NIH and its programs, visit www.nih.gov.

Organizers note that the Community Technology Center is a natural fit as a location for the Menominee Job Center since the majority of today’s job-posting, job-seeking and applying is being done electronically. The partnership enables the Menominee Job Center to make its resources very accessible with day, evening, and Saturday hours of service – a unique feature among Job Center of Wisconsin sites.

The purpose of the Menominee Job Center is to advance the economic opportunities of the area. It accomplishes this by developing and maintaining a quality workforce through integration of training, education and economic development services for job seekers, students, employers, and workers.

Staff members at the Menominee Job Center are Director Natasha Chevalier and Job Center Technology Coordinators Matt Johnson and Menominee Hawpetoss.

- People with diabetes should have a comprehensive dilated eye exam at least once a year to detect diabetic eye disease in its early stages.
- Diabetic retinopathy is the leading cause of blindness in adults 20–74 years of age.

Another event held for awareness of Domestic Violence was on October 16th at the Mohican Family Center. Stockbridge-Munsee Domestic Violence Program supported a Walk and Luncheon to promote awareness. According to Redcloud, there was a short walk around the Mohican Housing and inside of the Family Center gym for those that couldn't walk long distances, with signs posted with information on domestic abuse, like "Domestic violence is the leading cause of injury to women-more than car accidents, muggings and rapes combined," "Nearly 8 in 10 Americans have not heard about financial abuse as a form of domestic violence," "signs of domestic violence : Your partner insults and or embarrasses you in front of others and treats you as an inferior." 22 people showed up for the awareness and we had a little contest going on for the person who wore the most of the color purple, which is the color for Domestic Violence Awareness for October. The winner was Muriel Sereda; she won a 30 minute massage at Mr. B's in Gresham.

"I would like to GIVE A BIG THANK YOU to all the men and women who came out and made this day a great day for the awareness of Domestic Violence," Redcloud said.
